FW PERFORMANCE COLLABORATION AGREEMENT

Aliant Battery and FW Performance have formalized their relationship, started in the 2014, through a distribution agreement in force since last August 1st 2022.

The agreement provides that FW Performance is the exclusive distributor of Aliant Battery brand for STARTER BATTERIES products in Brazil.

Aliant will then supply the Brazilian distributor with YLP series lithium iron phosphate batteries and chargers.

An important step for the two companies which are thus linked to a partnership that will lead Aliant to increase its market share through the sale and acquisition of new customers.

Davide Dal Pozzo, CEO of Aliant Battery, said: “I am very proud of the goals we are achieving, and I thank FW Performance for the trust and interest it has shown towards our company and our products right from the beginning. Our goal is to create a network of global distributors that allows us to get ever closer to our customers, and having acquired a collaborative relationship in a country extra-EU is a great achievement for us”.

Company information:

ALIANAT BATTERY, born as a division within ELSA Solutions Srl, a reality operating in the world of industrial automation and power electronics since 1982, has instead started since 2009 a long journey dedicated to the production of lithium battery packs, progressively orienting its focus on medium and large capacity storage solutions. It develops electrification systems for vehicles and industrial vehicles, full electric and hybrid (mild, plugin, extended range) and energy conversion systems based on the most modern and advanced electronic technologies.

FW PERFORMANCE, born in 2009, is a Brazilian company that imports and distributes high-quality, high-performance products. In 2013 the company consolidated itself as the largest distributor of K&N filters in Latin America, now being the exclusive distributor in Brazil of famous brands as Brembo, Avon Tires, Racechip, and Italian battery brand Aliant.
